SYSTEM REQUIREMENTS

Minimum: An IBM® or 100% compatible 486 or better computer with 4 Mb RAM, a VGA graphics card, 24 Mb free space (disk version) or 40 Mb free space (CD version) on a hard disk drive, and a CD-ROM drive (CD version only).

Recommended: A 486 DX2/66 or better computer with 8 Mb RAM, VGA local bus video, joystick or mouse, and a sound card.

Terminal Velocity supports joystick, mouse, Gravis GamePad™, and any of the following sound cards (or a 100% compatible): Sound Blaster/Pro/16™, ProAudio Spectrum 8/16™, GravisUltra Sound™, and Aria (Sierra)™.

INSTALLATION

To play Terminal Velocity, you must first install the game. The program's installation utility will place all of the necessary files on your hard drive. To install the game, follow these simple instructions.

1. Before installation, make backup copies of the original floppy disks and store them in a safe place. Use the backups to install.
2. Place Disk 1 (or the CD) into the appropriate disk (or CD) drive. Type the letter of the drive followed by a colon and press the ENTER key. Example: A:<ENTER>.
3. Type INSTALL and press the ENTER key.
4. Follow the instructions in the installation program.
5. After installation is complete, type SETUP and press ENTER to configure your sound and music.
6. Once the sound setup is complete, select the "Save and Launch Terminal Velocity" option from the setup program to play the game. To run the game from the DOS prompt, type TV and press ENTER.

Note: Due to the size of Terminal Velocity's TVI files (the animated cinematics), it is best to install only the game files to the hard drive, leaving the TVI files on the CD for the program to access from the CD-ROM drive, so the program can play the cinematics. Please refer to the TVHELP file for a more in-depth explanation.

TERMINAL VELOCITY STORY

2704 A.D.

Earth, representing the Sol system, heads a council called the Alliance of Space-Faring Alien Races, or ASFAR. A treaty has been signed by all member systems to insure peaceful conduct between species. To protect members from external attacks, the Sol system has provided Perimeter Defense Computers (PDCs) to the inhabited planets of each system. The PDCs are linked through Tachyonet, so their defensive strategies may be conducted in concert.

Peace has reigned for seventy years.

On September 2nd, 2704, armadas from all the other member systems descended on the Earth like locusts. They destroyed crucial installations and laid waste to eleven major cities, killing millions of people and bringing the Earth to its knees.

You are a pilot in the Ares Squadron, flying the fastest, most dangerous crafts ever made. Currently, you're in the TU-202, a fighter few can handle. Given that the previous model, the TU-101, has chalked up more dead pilots than any other craft in history, many consider you lucky to be alive.

The remains of Sol's defenses have assembled a small fleet to investigate the attack and take out the source of each alien onslaught.

Once your fleet arrives at the first system, you open your orders and find out that it is actually the Perimeter Defense Computers that have assembled these fleets and attacked Earth. Something is controlling the PDCs. You must find out who or what is behind it all, and terminate them with extreme prejudice. Good luck, pilot. You're out-gunned, out-manned, and strapped into a flying coffin. But just think how good "Saved the Known Galaxy" will look on a resume' ...

MAIN MENU

Terminal Velocity is a high-speed space combat game without all the cumbersome controls of a flight simulator. After setting up the game and launching Terminal Velocity, the Main Menu will appear. From the Main Menu, you can play a new game, restore a previously saved game, and configure the game to the way you prefer. To access each selection, use the arrow keys to highlight your option and press the ENTER key. At any time, you may press the ESC key to move back to the previous menu.

PLAY GAME

With this option you can launch a new game or restore a saved game.

NEW GAME

After choosing the New Game option, you must make your way through three different game option screens:

Select Mission — choose from three different missions. Each mission has three different planets, each with a unique objective.

Difficulty Level — choose from four difficulty levels.

Login Screen — Enter in your pilot name and call sign.

After selecting these options, a summary of the story will be displayed, followed by a briefing of your current mission.

You can save your game almost anywhere in a level. Select a saved game slot, type in a name or description of the game to be saved, and press the ENTER key.

Note: The only place that you cannot save a game is in the tunnels.

MISSION BRIEFING AND OBJECTIVE

Earth's Intelligence has gone to extremes in order to gather the needed tactical information for each mission. The information on each mission is shown on the TV-202's briefing screen, which displays a visual of the target planet, the mission objective, each enemy ship, and all targets.

Along with the visual display on the briefing screen, a detailed text description is given of the planet's history, each known enemy ship, all targets, and your current mission objective.

Warning: All information may not be listed. There will be surprises along the way.

Tactical Information

Planet and Mission Briefing

Monitor

Mission text description

THE COCKPIT (Press "C" during game play to remove)

There are three parts to the cockpit layout. The tactical information display (left of screen) lists your map sector coordinates (SECT), current weapon (WEPN), distance to objective (DIST), amount of ammo for current weapon (AMMO), and the current navigational objective (NAV).

The next area of the cockpit (right of screen) is the short range radar display. The radar will display objects which are very close to you. The directional indicator, when pointing upward, will lead you to your next target.

The ship's status (next to radar) lists the shield status (the red line) and the throttle status (the blue line).

Pressing the BACKSPACE key will display a more detailed description of your current weapon and current objective along with your next objective. The objectives are:

TGT - Targets to be destroyed

CHK - Proceed to checkpoint

TUN - Enter a tunnel

DUN - Departure unit to exit a level

XIT - Exit from a tunnel

BOS - Destroy Basic Objective Structure

When you are heading directly towards your current objective, a small red triangle will appear on the short range radar to let you know that you are on course.

The short range radar display is one of the most useful parts of the cockpit. It shows you what important items are currently around you. It will display all air/ground targets, tunnel entrances, and any powerups you have left behind. The colored targets on your radar are defined as follows:

Yellow Blips - Tunnel Entrances

Orange Blips - Air Targets

Green Blips - Ground Targets

Pulsing Blue Blips - Powerups

Targets change from a "+" when they are above you to a "-" when they are below you. The long range radar can be turned on/off using the TAB key. By doing so, the short range radar will be de-activated, and the long range radar will be superimposed on top of the current screen display.

WEAPONS AND POWERUPS

In Terminal Velocity, there are 7 unique types of weapons (designed for mass destruction) and 5 types of powerups (designed for self preservation).

Plasma - PAC (Press "1" to select.)

The oh-so-deadly Plasma Assault Cannon comes standard on the TV-202. Ammo: Infinite.

Ion-Burst - ION (Press "2" to select.)

The Ion-Burst cannon shoots out charged energy spheres in a wide spread. Ammo: 100 units.

Lasers - RTL (Press "3" to select.)

With a Rapid Targeting Laser, both your accuracy and fire power increase. Ammo: Infinite.

Missiles - MAM (Press "4" to select.)

These Manually-Aimed Missiles pack quite a punch, so be sure that you are right on target. Ammo: 40 units.

Guided Missiles - SAD (Press "5" to select.)

Guided missiles Seek-And-Destroy any unfortunate targets that happen to cross your path. Ammo: 20 units.

Super Missiles - SWT (Press "6" to select.)

Shock Wave Torpedoes rain destruction from above upon unsuspecting targets. Ammo: 20 units.

Smart Bomb - DAM (Press "7" to select.)

This Discrete Annihilation Missile will obliterate everything within a limited radius. Ammo: 1 unit.

Afterburner - FLY (Press "ALT" to use.)

This will blast you through any area at terminal speeds. Fuel: 120 units.

Shield

Shield Restore powerups are used to restore the TV-202's shields to full strength.

Power Core (Increases shields by 10 percent.)

Power Core powerups are left behind from some ships after being destroyed.

Invincibility

This powerup temporarily boosts the ship's shields, repelling any attack. Duration 30 seconds.

Invisibility

This powerup temporarily boosts the ship's shields and adds invisibility as well. Duration 30 seconds.

The weapons or powerups will often appear after bunkers are destroyed. To pick up any of these items, just fly the TV-202 into them.

Certain weapons such as the PAC, ION, and RTL can be increased from their base power. The second time you pick up a powerup, the weapon has twice the power with 100 extra shots. The third time gives you four times the powerup and 200 shots of ammo.

PLANETS

With eight planets, one asteroid, and an alien ship to explore, Terminal Velocity offers over 400,000 square miles of terrain.

TYPES OF ENEMIES AND TARGETS

In Terminal Velocity, there are four different types of targets to destroy: air, mobile ground, immobile ground, and bosses.

AIR (Each planet has different enemies.)

MOBILE GROUND

BOSSSES

IMMOBILE GROUND

Note: Many other targets not shown.

MODEM/NETWORK PLAY (COMM-BAT™)

Play Comm-bat™ three ways in Terminal Velocity: serial, modem, or network. To run any of these games, type SETUP at the DOS prompt.

STARTING SERIAL PLAY

For serial Comm-bat™, simply connect two computers with a null modem cable. The cable plugs into one of the COM ports on the back of the computer. You must choose the correct COM port for your computer under “Comm Setup/Setup COM Port.” If you have a mouse plugged in, the COM port is usually 2. That’s the default when you first run the game.

Next, select Serial Game on both computers. If everything is hooked up right, the computers will talk to each other.

STARTING MODEM PLAY

Modem play is probably the most popular Comm-bat™ choice, yet the most complex to set up. Run SETUP and select “Comm Setup/Setup Modem” to change modem-specific settings. Run TVHELP.EXE for more specific information.

You can enter numbers into the Phone Number List under “Modem Game.” Enter the person’s name, then their phone number. Press ENTER on the choice you want, then choose Launch TV. The person on the other end should choose Wait for Call, then Launch TV. If everything is set up correctly, you will connect over the phone lines. If you have trouble, run TVHELP.EXE for more detailed information.

STARTING NETWORK COMM-BAT™

Terminal Velocity works with any IPX compatible network. Run SETUP and select "Network Game." Everyone must choose the correct number of players, then Launch TV. If you aren't all joining the game, it is possible one of you has changed their socket number in "Comm Setup/Setup Network." For more detailed information, run TVHELP.EXE.

Sometimes you will get the message "A Network Player is playing a game on the same socket." If you didn't get it running the first time, make sure everyone gets out of the game, then re-run the game.

COMM-BAT™ CHOICES

One of the players will be chosen as "Master." The Master chooses the game type, either Dogfight or Team Dogfight. In Team Dogfight, what ship you choose determines what team you are on. There are two teams, the Arctic Team and the Canyon Team. You can destroy your teammates as easily as your enemies, so be careful.

The Master also chooses what planet to play on. In this version, there are six planets. Each planet has different terrain with unique placement of weapons and powerups.

Everyone must choose their ship, then enter in their name and call sign. Once everyone gets in the game, press SPACEBAR and you'll be playing! You get points for shooting down your enemy, and lose points if you kill yourself (by running into the terrain). Press "S" to see the player scores and stats during a network game.

Play continues until the Master quits the game. By pressing ESC, players can jump out to the menu to change settings, then jump back in. If the Master presses ESC and quits the game, the game is over and the stats screen will be displayed.

REMOTE RIDICULE™

RemoteRidicule™ is used to taunt your opponents during game play. There are three methods you can use: preset messages, typed-in messages, and RemoteRidicule™ sound effects.

Preset messages are defined in the SETUP program by selecting "Comm Setup/Setup Macros." You can send these by pressing SHIFT and a function key (F1 through F10) at the same time. By pressing "T", you can type in any message you want. Press the ENTER key to send it.

RemoteRidicule™ sounds are triggered by pressing F1 through F10. The sounds are named TRI1.WAV through TRI10.WAV. You can replace these WAV's with your own, but they must be 8-bit, digitized at 11khz, mono, and no larger than 64k in size.

HINTS

If you need help, check out this section. But we warn you—these hints might spoil some of the fun!

- Avoid doing hard 180° backspins. These will result in unwanted collisions with enemy ships.
- Use your afterburner to fly between targets and checkpoints quickly. But be careful not to use all of your fuel, because you may need it in a pinch later.
- One disadvantage of the afterburner is that you cannot fire your current weapon while using it.

- The bunkers always contain some type of powerup or weapon.
- Use the long range radar (TAB) to locate secret tunnels (yellow blips), they often contain powerups in them.

- You can tell if you are hurting a boss if you see pieces fly off it.

- Some bosses require that you destroy a shield generator before attacking them directly. Some bosses can only be hit in one area. For instance, the first boss on Ymir can only be hit on the very bottom section, after you destroy the generators.
- You can re-enter tunnels to collect powerups as often as you like.

CHEAT CODES

Are you having a little trouble? Here's some help in the form of a cheat. Type any of the following to receive help:

TRISHLD - Restores shields to 100%      MANIACS - 1000 units of Afterburner
